

Franco-British Forces Launch Offensive to East of Amiens; Towns and Many Guns Taken

LONDON, Aug. 8.—(BULLETIN)—HARONNIERES, SIX MILES EAST OF VILLERS-BRETONNEUX, HAS BEEN REACHED BY THE BRITISH, ACCORDING TO THE EVENING NEWS.

London, Aug. 8.—According to reports received this afternoon the Allies have captured the towns of Morsuil, Demuin, Alboncourt and Morlancourt, the heights west of Cerisy and the heights south of Morlancourt.

London, Aug. 8.—Several thousand prisoners have been taken by the Franco-British forces in their offensive in Picardy, the Evening Standard learns.

With the British Army in France, Aug. 8.—(By Associated Press)—The British attacked over a 12-mile front on both sides of the Somme. They gained all their objectives within four hours and have captured a considerable number of prisoners and guns.

The British have now reached about three miles and a half south-west of Albert, to the east of Morlancourt.

The British launched their attack after only three minutes of artillery preparation.

London, Aug. 8.—According to advices received in London, the French and British forces which attacked this morning in the Picardy sector have advanced at some points to a depth of more than three miles.

On a Wide Front:

With the French Army in France, Aug. 8.—The assault began exactly at dawn this morning on a front of more than 20 kilometers and a success was secured immediately. The British advanced toward Cerisy-Gailly, on the south ed on a wide front east and southeast of Villers-Bretonneux. "Report indicates that the attack is progressing satisfactorily."

An attack southeast of Villers-Bretonneux, it is reported, has been made to wipe out the German positions west of Cerisy. The Germans are making a series of retreats to the north. The British hold a sector south of the French lines south of Villers-Bretonneux. The British have withdrawn to the east of the Aire in the direction of the town of Montdidier. Since then the French have been gaining ground on the Aire and thence south along the river to the Somme. In the region of Picardy in front of it is the town of Cerisy. The British are holding a sector south of the Somme in March. Montdidier, it is reported, would have a menacing effect on the German lines from Rethondes to Ypres.

Stonning Troops Take the Somme:

With the French Army in France, Aug. 8.—The greatest secrecy surrounded the attack this morning. The night the Germans heavily bombardé the British lines, the British were surprised as it was coming up to the Somme. The British had been received up to mid-morning indicating favorable conditions.

One of the American detachments which crossed the Somme yesterday, the 7th, came from the Rethondes-Somme highway who are en route to the British lines.

Another of the prisoners taken today was an American and several privates from a field division of the German front in Flanders.

The Germans are now facing the American infantry north of the Somme. The region is very desolate.

A number of German machine gun nests were captured and the Germans were surprised at the speed with which they were taken.

Division Surprised:

Paris, Aug. 8.—The allied attack on the Somme this morning apparently was unexpected by the enemy forces and many prisoners were taken.

The French took the initiative in the early morning of Aug. 8, after which the troops left their positions at 8 o'clock considerable progress was made.

The advance at some points was more than two miles.

Important material has been taken by the advancing forces.

German in Street at Vesle:

London, Aug. 8.—News from the Soissons-Rheims front this afternoon is that the Germans are holding the town of Marceval. An advance by the British to Marceval is reported to represent a penetration of approximately two miles into the German lines. The British advanced about one mile to the east of Villers-Bretonneux, and about one-half mile south of Villers-Bretonneux.

The British struck in the Viller-Bretonneux area, where Field Marshal Haig's forces had an advanced position. The British had driven the Germans from the Viller-Bretonneux ridge.

The British-French Drive

The rapid advance of the British and French in the offensive launched against the Germans on the Amiens front has at the present time six miles to the west of the 100-mile front is done well, and is an indication that his lessons learned since July 18 have not been lost. How far it will be possible to drive will depend on the perfection of organization behind the army.

The Franco-American advance was pushed along the front between Soissons and Reims, even though the men and valour of the Germans a great advantage in their defence.

With strong Allied pressure on two sides of the great German salient unless the enemy can find a stronger position he did at the Menin road, and he did yesterday on the Amiens salient, he will have to retire at least to the Hindenburg line, where he made his stand after his retreat from the front in 1917, and from which he drove forward in his five offensives of 1918. It appears that having strained his resources to the limit, a decision has been reached, the arrival of the United States troops has turned the scale definitely against him.

Coal Famine in Sight

Winter weather is less than two months away, and the Edmonton coal mines are practically idle. This is what we are preparing to meet the coal famine which has been officially announced to occur during the coming winter.

We have government by autocracy; we have fuel controllers with unswerving intent; and we are losing the precious days of summer without any sign of the end of the coal famine.

The dealer is in the same position, and the consumer in the majority of cases can only afford to buy as he uses. In order that there may be a winter supply sufficient to meet the local lines of demand, somebody must find the money to carry the cost from the date of its being mined until it is consumed.

Under ordinary conditions this would be no problem.

The appointment of fuel controllers and the establishment of fuel regulations under such circumstances is pure insanity, if there is any intention to do more than to give an appearance of action without anything being done.

The demand for coal will be light during the next three months.

The shortage of labour has been relieved by the crop conditions.

It would be possible during these three months to produce a reserve supply that would certainly carry the country through the summer months.

There is only one condition under which that can be achieved, and that is by the Dominion—the Province or the Dominion—financing the surplus output.

Food Conservation (?)

At such a time of wheat shortage throughout a great part of the west, the question of food conservation, even in this country, becomes acute. Amongst the important food resources of our land is the whitefish of our lakes and the lakes. Lesser Slave Lake is the largest of those lakes producing whitefish as it is reached by water all along its south shore its production is available for supplementation under most favourable conditions. The lake is between sixty and seventy miles in length, and may fairly be considered as a vast food reservoir to be drawn upon as occasion requires. The quality of the fish of Lesser Slave Lake is exceptionally good.

One knows, the cooler the water the better the fish; and as fish spoil very easily, the cooler the weather in winter the less there will be, and the better the condition in which they will arrive at the consumer's table. Whitefish are the highest quality of fresh water fish procurable in quantity and quality, and are the best quality known. Formerly there were two fishing seasons, spring and winter; but this year spring and winter fishing are cut out, and the fishermen are restricted to mid-summer for their catch. A limit of one pound per day is set at the mouth of the lake, and certain fish companies are allowed to purchase a proportion of this amount from fishermen. The result of establishing a fishing season is that the water of the lake is warmer and the fish therefore at their worst for long distance shipment is also at a loss, and when the weather for long distance shipment is also at a loss.

W. F. Langford, who was fishing until recently on the north shore of the lake, advised arrangements to be made to catch the fish from the lake to the railway shipping point and ice houses on the south shore. Owing to the severe winter weather, however, he and his son, Mr. Langford and his partners buried 2,125 tons of white fish which had caught in two days, and which spoiled because there was no ice available in the lake.

The speaker informs The Bulletin that he and his two partners, Messrs. Gordon and Jenkins, caught and sold to the independent fish company in one week 2,500 pounds of fish. The speaker is to make a plan to haul the fish from the north shore of the lake to the railway shipping point and ice houses on the south shore.

There were other signs of crisis of which the speaker, Billings began again:

"I am on a point of order. I want to know if any further points of order. This is not the time to bring up points of order."

The speaker said: "I want to draw attention to the fact that we have conducted ourselves on the part of the members of parliament in a manner which would cause a blocking motion."

Mr. Billings' suspension for "discreditable conduct" was ordered to stand over until the member of parliament in question could appear before the committee.

Mr. Billings suspended the chair.

TROUT FISHING IN THE LAURENTIAN LAKES

TRIBUTARY to Eastern Canada's regions stream with lakes where one can drop off the train and in three or four hours return with a catch of trout ranging from 30 to 40 lbs., and these many varieties, which are game on the black bass and no benefit to the rainbow. That region is the district which lies between St. Agathe and Lac St. Jean in the Laurentian region. In those times, Province of Quebec had its varied lakes, and streams abounding with gray and speckled trout, which, according to many experts with the exception of the salmon, were considered for size, gameness and variations, to be unequalled.

The total run north from Montreal to Hemmington over the Canadian Pacific is only a six hour ride; or to put it in another way, the distance by road can reach St. Agathe in 12 hours, Labelle in 8 hours, and Nemisig in 6 hours, while the distances between these and other stopping points at the head of the lakes, and streams varies from one-eighth of a mile to four miles, except Nemisig, where the very remotest lake and streams are situated from the Chateauguay to the Magog River.

An additional feature that makes this splendid trout-fishing region absolutely unique is that it is a series of lakes, and as many streams as there are, all by itself unequalled; and the streams, as well as the red and fly trout, "the trout are entirely unpacified," which is another way of saying that they will rise to a fly at a fly, and if you tempt them they spot the fly immediately.

The most unique feature of this trout-fisher's paradise in the Laurentians is its infinite and endless variety. Do you want to have the best trout though not large in size, are "sporty" little fellows, which like to rise to the fly, and you can fill a creel in a very short time. In the same area are two other lakes, Léveque and week there will suffice. Next, Ontario for St. Paulin, only 12 miles distant from St. Agathe. Drop off at St. Paulin and an eighth of a mile away to Nemisig Lake, where the trout, being with fly or troll that this continent affords? Then drop off at St. Agathe and proceed to Lake Manotick where the speckled trout are especially plentiful and gamey. A week's fishing in Lakes Wade and Levise, where good fishing is obtained. A couple of weeks at these waters will suffice. Now proceed to Labelle, 22 miles distant, and at Lakes Carillon and Labelle, 2 and Cucumber, and not be disappointed. Let it is in the lakes near Nemisig, 24 miles from Labelle, that you will get all the sport you desire with rod and reel in speckled trout, varying in size from 10 to 15 lbs. Trout as game and tricky as the black bass, and exceedingly beautiful. In fact, one of the phases which make of most's fishing in these lakes particularly attractive is the fact that the lakes are the trout exactly alike. They show small, but appreciable difference in size, shape, color and taste. So that the fisherman has a variety of getting his pleasure as he proceeds from lake to lake in the Nemisig region. It should be added that the trout in these lakes are not as fat as those in the great lakes, but the trout exactly alike.

Large gray trout are to be caught in the bigger lakes, especially Grand Nemisig, and the smaller lakes, but the trout is the best and most popular with the devotees of this kind of sport. The trolling must be done with spoon bait or minnows, and from a slow moving canoe. For variety consider fly or red, and this has been found practically ineffective. The reason is that in May, when the trout season opens, few visitors intend to go out on the big lakes, and the gray trout being a good student of nature, seems to know this, and will not be fooled by the artificial fly.

REDS PENNED BY ARMY THAT FIGHTS SOVIET

Successful Operation by Italians in albania on the Semen River.

Amsterdam Aug. 8.—Gen. Denikin, former chief of staff of the Russian army, and who is now opposing the Reds, has captured the last group of Bolshevik forces in the narrow space between the Black Sea and the Balkans, the latter being the eastern part of the Balkan Peninsula. Denikin, received here from Kiev, Novorossiysk, on the east coast of the Black Sea, is now in command of the 100,000 men of the White Guard, whose troops are retreating westward.

Kiev newspapers announce that a large landing force of 10,000 men of the White army will meet on August 15 at Novo-Tcherkassk.

Rome, Aug. 8.—(Associated Press)—Abroad the news of the Italian victory in the Semen River reached the allied representatives and their delegations in time for today. When they arrived here yesterday the news few the Red delegation to the conference that was still flying the old Russian colors with the consent of the Italian government.

On their arrival at Archangel the ambassadors were received by the United States Ambassador Francis hopes to return to Vologda without information concerning the all-Russian officials in Moscow, Petrograd and Vologda.

GOVT CONTROL U.S. STOCKYARDS RECOMMENDED

Washington, Aug. 8.—Government acquisition of control of the principal stock yards, cold storage plants and warehouses and both refrigerator and meat packing houses should be recommended to the president by the Federal Trade Commission, the agency monopoly which it occupies Swift & Co., Chicago, and the Cudahy Packing company exercise not only over the meat market but also over the entire food supply. The committee's report on the stockyards was conducted recently in many cities and made public two months ago.

It had been in the hands of the president since July 5, and it was expected to be issued in full. It has been issued "because the president was unable to be in possession of full information."

The committee said the control of the meat packing companies "has been and is being unfairly and illegally used to restrain trade, to stifle competition, restrict interstate and international trade, to fix prices, to ensure a price of dressed meat and other products above what the market price of food and consumers' crush effective competition; secure special privileges from Congress, state legislatures and municipalities and profit the company."

1. That the government acquire through the railroad administration, the ports and railroads, the terminals of the country to be treated as freight depots and to be open uniformly to all shippers to encourage open, competitive markets, with uniform rates, uniform service, uniform performance, and the acquisition or establishment of terminals as far from time to time as the future development of live stock production in the United States demands. This is to include customary adjuncts of stock yards.

2. That the government acquire, through the railroad administration, all privately owned refrigerator cars and all necessary equipment for their transportation, and that the membership be declared a government monopoly.

4. That the federal government acquire, through the railroad administration at the terminals and points of consumption, central wholesale markets, already established, or open to all upon payment of just and fair charges.
